ENCLOSURE.

REPORT OF COURT OF ENQUIRY.

[Labour—Dumasam Pann, Madras—Court of Enquiry—Report.]

Lester Iron & T. Ramaswami, Esq., M.A., I.C.S., Commissioner of Labour and Court of Enquiry into the Dumasam Pann Dispute, Madras, to the Secretary to Government, Development Department, dated the 11th September 1936, No. G-4-607/35.

In G.O. No. 104, Development, dated 2nd August 1935, Government appointed me as a Court of Enquiry for a finding on the following issue raised in the dispute between the management and the workers in the Dumasam Pann, Madras, viz., whether the authorities of the Pann were justified in discharging ten of their workers on 11th May 1935.

I took the management and the Madras Pann Labour Union, on behalf of the workers, their various statements setting forth their case. In the statement filed by the management, it was stated that the discharge of 10 workers was the direct result of a change of opinion in the Management Department of the Pann, that the change was suggested by the workers themselves in spite of a warning given that it would result in the discharge of more men, that the number of men for discharge was arrived at by dividing the total number of men known as all workers in the English Compounding Department by the number of working hours in the Pann and that the quotient as arrived at as 10 was the extent of requirements for a permanent staff. It was also urged as a final justification for the discharge of 10 workers that the employer was in the sole and final judge of the number of men required for the work. The statement filed by the Madras Pann Labour Union urged that the discharge of 10 workers was made for an unjust reason, and that the change from the piece-work system into a permanent staff system did not necessitate a reduction.

3. The following statements were produced by the management of the Pann:—

(1) Mr. F. M. Padley, Manager of the Dumasam Pann.

(2) P. Perumalathan, competing clerk of the Pann.

(3) Gurusamy Mudaliyar, foreman in the English Compounding section of the Pann.

There will be referred to as M.W. 1 to 3. The following witnesses were produced by the Labour Union:—

(1) T. Balasubramaniam, a workman in the Pann.

(2) Theodore Cherry, a competitor in the Pann.

There will be referred to as L.W. 1 and 2.

4. In his preliminary remarks, Mr. Sd/- Counsel for the Management of the Pann, explained that the Pann agreed at 10 workers in the number to be recruited, by taking the number of site hours in the shedded earth and dividing it by 300 which is the number of hours a worker is expected to work in a month. In Exhibit A-1 filed by M.W. 1 who proposed it, the number of site hours in the month of May 1935 to April 1936 is given. The highest number is 2084 in October 1935, the number of working hours in a day is 8 and the number of days worked in a month is taken as 25. Sd/- Counsel explained that there were 47 competitors in the English Section and that, in order to select 25 out of the 47, they took 1000 competitors in every three parts service who were 25 in number, one man each in length of service, four apprentices six months to be taken for work in the Pann, and two "make-up" competitors. He also reproduced the statement of the Pann Labour Union that the selection of the ten men for discharge was made with reference to their activities in the Pann. The Counsel for the Labour Union questioned the members of the number of site hours and said that the amount of wages paid had been lowered by the new system introduced.

5. Mr. Padley, M.W. 1, was cross-examined at length as to how the relevancy of site hours was made. The various times of work done by a worker each day and the time taken on each item was noted in daily time-sheets relating to each worker. In each sheet, the various hours from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. are noted with intervals of quarter of an hour. Thus, in Exhibit A-3, which is the time-sheet relating to worker No. 8 in C.H. Section of the English Compounding Department, he is shown as having worked from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. as "make-up." He is also shown in the last column marked "Out" standing for "Distribution," as having worked from 8 to 7 p.m. The time from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. is arbitrary working time with no hour interval. The time from 8 p.m. to 7 p.m. is marked "over-time." M.W. 1 states that every worker regularly does distribution work between 8 and 10 a.m. or so, and it is shown generally in the time-sheet as done between 8 and 10 a.m. According to the witness, the hours against which no time of work is shown in the Quintard are not generally the actual hours when that work was done. Thus, in the time-sheet for worker No. 8 on 21st November 1937, marked Exhibit A-4, distribution is shown as from 8 to 10 a.m., from 10 to 11 a.m., is shown correction of standing water, which it paid for, then from 11 a.m. to 12 noon is shown other correction on his own initiative for work he paid for. From 12 to 5 p.m., the worker is shown as having done five hours of compulsory work. It was then to be noted whether the work of distribution was actually done from 8 to 10 a.m.; he cannot say whether the actual work of supplying was from 10 noon to 5 p.m. The time-sheet, according to him, is kept by the supervisor and taken by him to the bureau in the morning when the bureau is told what work was done by the worker. The bureau then puts down the hours of work according to the time-sheet so that the total is all right. The bureau gives the hours from his knowledge but does not keep any account. In Exhibit A-4, there is one hour entered in the last column from 6 to 7 p.m. According to M.W. 3, this was first added to idle time but the idle time is not necessarily from 8 to 7 p.m., but somewhere in the day. In conversation, M.W. 3 said that idle hours were due to want of work or want of material, that the time-sheet did not show which was the cause, and that he had seen workers sitting quiet in idle hours. When a number of hours is shown in the time-sheet as having been spent on a particular item of work, the supervising clerk is when the time-sheet goes, calculates the time which the worker ought to have taken on that work and enters the excess in the third column of the Register of Daily Distribution of Work, which is entitled "Excess" in Exhibit B-1, which is the time-sheet for No. 10 on 21st November 1937. In the last column for Distribution, there are three hours shown from 8 to 11 a.m. and four again two hours from 8 to 7 p.m. These hours are entered in Exhibit A-5, Register of Daily Distribution of Work, three hours being shown under idle time and two under distribution. According to M.W. 3, this was a mistake—two hours should have been shown as idle time and three hours under distribution. Actually, when the hours of work in the Press are only four 5 a.m. to 4 p.m., it is impossible to suppose that a worker was idle from 5 to 7 p.m. and still continued to stay in the Press. It is clear that the registration of M.W. 3 as to idle times are made in time-sheet and these taken to the Daily Distribution Register is very defective. It does not seem to have been exactly the time-shares are actually filed in and then contents transferred to the Daily Distribution Register. On this point, M.W. 3 who is a foreman in the English Composing Department who prepared the time-sheet, shows much better knowledge. M.W. 3, the foreman, in fact, he prepared the time-shares which have been marked in Exhibits A-1, A-3, etc. As regards wages, M.W. 3 states that formerly the Press was paying 5 annas per 1,000 "ans" and that this has been changed into the payment of a common wage of Rs. 30 a month with an expectation of 500 "ans" per hour and an extra payment of 8 annas for each 32 "ans" more 500 "ans" in the rate per hour up to 500 "ans" and 12 annas per 32 "ans" for every 32 "ans" above 500 "ans". Thus, if a worker did 500 "ans" per hour formerly, he got $500/1000 \times 500 = 250$ annas, in Rs. 12-12-6 a month, but if he did 500 "ans" as before he got Rs. 30 a month and if he did 1,000 "ans" as before, he got Rs. 32-0-0 a month formerly, while now he gets Rs. 30 a month if he does 800 "ans" an hour and Rs. 32 a month if he does 1,000 "ans" an hour. Thus, on the whole, the change of wages is an improvement over the old rate of wages. The rates are however subject to modification in the light of experience.

M.W. 3 is the composing clerk. He gets the time-shares and converts the hours entered against any item of work into which it ought to be and makes the remainder as excess in column 5 of the Register of Daily Distribution of Work. According to him, this time is always marked by the foreman at the bottom of the last column of the time-sheet. But he admits that the idle hours are always marked by the section foreman and that he himself has no particular knowledge of the idle time spent by the compositor.

M.W. 3, the foreman who prepared the time-shares which are marked in Exhibits A-3, A-5, etc., states that formerly every compositor drew two hours of distribution and that some people, instead of doing it in the morning, do it some time in the day. If distribution is done later in the day, it is shown only against the hours when it is actually done. Thus 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. he notes against the different hours the work done then. Before 8 p.m. he notes the work done by the workers after his clock struck in regard to distribution which he notes under the work of the worker. 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. is overtime when work is done if there is heavy work. There is however no difference in the rates of payment for work before 5 p.m. and between 5 and 7 p.m. If a worker is idle at any time, he is shown in the last column against those hours. After 5 p.m., workers in the last column are made as stated by the worker, but before 5 p.m. he enters against only what clock he himself. Entries in the last column entitled "Disturbance" may be either for distribution or for idle time. But idle time is not specially marked by him as such. After 5 p.m., there cannot be idle time as it is overtime, in his conversation, he states that when any item of work is begun, the workman tells him so and he makes a mark at once in the time-sheet. When it is finished the workman tells him and he makes a mark at that hour and completes the line joining the two points. The hours of composing are marked starting where the work is begun and when it is ended. The hours of correction however are noted strictly where work is begun and ended as it is paid for. Except for the correction scheme, the other entries are marked strictly at the hours when work is begun and ended. He states further when workers have to work in the evening after 8 p.m., they do distribution sometime for the work of the next day. Usually, he enters the time-shares from the workers in the morning and sends them to the composing clerk the next morning. Sometimes he goes away at 8 p.m., and the workers, when they work after 5 p.m. as he has the next morning, get their time marked on the time-sheet for the period after 5 p.m. and therefore tell the time-sheet in the composing clerk. This means, M.W. 3, speaks with knowledge of how the time-sheet are actually filled up in the English Composing Department and it is clear that what is marked as idle time in the Daily Distribution Register is not time when the worker was idle but time when the worker did work for which he was not paid.

5.9. I work in the Press as an Inspector and [as done so for 25 years. He states that when there is no composing work, inspectors sit up the press with type, that is, do distribution work. When in, the others, but no composing work, he gets the materials ready for the next job. The Inspector waits such loss of preparation in the last edition for which no wages are paid. He states that before the strike, the workers were never sitting up, doing nothing. 5.9. 5 who works in the Job Department as a compositor, states that when a job is given to such a worker, he gets out of two kinds of letters, one which contains the period within which the work should be finished. If it is not so finished, the second time is shown under distribution. The other which does not contain the hours. The work is done as the workers can, but the time credited is shown as settled by the composing clerk. The Inspector says as the Inspector the second time when the work was begun and then it was noted that the composing clerk reduces the period spent actually.

6. It is clear from the evidence of the witnesses that what is calculated as idle time is not idle time, but unpaid time. If the time concerned is spent on work needed but unpaid, the man who does it is not surplus. In the method of calculating wages for piecework, it has apparently been found convenient to base the calculation on certain items of work done while other items which are necessary for the progress of the whole work are not paid for and are shown to the extent of not more than two hours in the account of distribution and the rest under idle time. Mr. Bell, General for the Press, in his last argument stated that what was called idle time was known when, according to the custom of the trade, was spent on unpaid work, such as distribution, and that they did not mean hours when the men were idle. The argument therefore on which the discharge of ten workers was based built in the statement that by the Management of the Press and in the preliminary agreement of Mr. Bell himself, it was understood by the witnesses accepted and is practically given up by Mr. Bell himself as the evidence of the witnesses. Mr. Bell stated that the argument based on idle hours was only a rough and ready argument. With the submission of the number of persons, required was made on the experience of the then Secretary, Mr. Warren, with reference to the change of type and machines and of space for men and he also said that the employer must be the judge of how many men he employs. The general claim as regards the employer being entitled to employ as many as he considers desirable is not consistent with the terms of reference made to me which relate to the justification for discharging a specific number of workers, viz., 10. And the claim that Mr. Warren as an experienced printer could decide how many were needed is not sustained in the original statement, yet it does not evidence as to how far such a claim is justified. The justification for the discharge of 10 workers must then rest on the whole ground originally alleged, viz., that there were 2,300 idle men in the district month and that there were therefore 10 excess workers. This argument, as has been shown above, is based on incorrect data and must therefore be considered invalid. In the result, on the issue referred to me by the Government, viz., whether there was justification for the discharge of 10 workers in May last, my finding is in the negative.

Dated Port St. George, this 21st October 1938.

No. 517.—

In G.O. No. 2063, Development, dated 12th August 1938, the Government appointed Elmer Hubbard David Harrison, Barrister-at-Law, Collector of Madras, as a Court of Enquiry, under the Trade Disputes Act, 1925, to enquire into and submit findings on the points at issue between the workers and the management of the Chittoor Press Mills. The Government have now received the report of the Court and direct that it be published in the Port St. George Gazette, as required by section 13 (1) of the Act.

Police have supplied all workers. Thereupon were removed, of whom 12 are union members. Fifteen—Baptist 13, 12 were removed, 4 were union members.

I have been asked only the witness which supplied the largest number of workers, the total number of workers from which also were removed being 25. In support of the allegations of discrimination P.Ws. 4 and 10 have stated that, not only themselves, but also all their relations, except two brothers of P.W. 4, have been removed. This allegation has further been attempted to be supported by Exhibit B-3—by showing the signatures of the union members removed has been furnished, without reference to the names put in by each.

From the circumstances set out above, while the Agents appear to lend support to the allegations of discrimination at the same time I feel that it would be very wrong to reach such an interpretation of the allegations as such of a responsible officer like R.W. 3 (Mr. Wilson), in my view, is dwelling on the point of time immediately did not strike him at all and that, in fact, he did not know who were members. It is quite possible that the names furnished to him by his associates were based on the assumption that the information given to them by their associates amongst whom are the few people, who seem to be the "pet workers" of the strikers. This view seems reasonable, as otherwise, it would be expecting the impossible to expect those associates to remember the names and signatures of all the 2000 and odd workers in the mills. It is also in evidence stated, that these themselves have admitted it in R.W. 4 to 8 that they used to attend the union meetings and put workers to meetings—thus creating disturbance on a day. Also, R.W. 4 told a constable against three people of whom P.W. 5 was one—the charges made, but the second was acquitted (vide Exhibit 1, copy of the Court's judgment). It may be of interest here to note that the Magistrate has specifically said in his decision the prosecution stop at this case. These facts taken along with the evidence of P.Ws. 1, 5, 6 and 7—which I am so anxious to disbelieve—is to say that these few people used to make a note on the meetings of the workers who attended them, and the question arises then that being members of the union and these strikers that was admitted had me as before that the activity consisted of removal of workers for being members of the union is not wholly groundless; but then, only in the sense that there was an intention by the management themselves who, I am prepared to admit, were not aware of the names of those who were union members. It seems to be a case of "sure as fire from my friends" for the management is agreed in R.Ws. 4 to 8. In the circumstances I think it only fair—and right—that I should absolve the management from the charge of discrimination as such.

8. (iv) Whether (1) J. Jones, (2) P. Netherland, (3) N. Sumanaprasad, (4) E. Dargal and (5) R. Apperavanti should be removed from the service of the mill for the reasons stated by the witness.—The three charges against these five people are bribery, immorality and dishonesty.

Bribery—Evidence as regards this has been given by P.Ws. 13, 14, 15 (all in service) and 18 against P.W. 5 (Apperavanti) by P.Ws. 17, 20 and 21 against R.W. 5 (Dargal), by P.Ws. 22 and 23 against R.W. 5 (Jones) and by P.W. 23 against R.W. 7 (Netherland).

It must here be remembered that a charge of bribery is easy to bring and it is easy who is not ready to support it, for nothing very much more than a mere statement that the defendant gave a certain sum of money to the culprit need be made as far as the witness deposing is concerned. On the other hand there is the circumstance that a charge of bribery is difficult to prove. Considering both sides of the question, from the evidence as given I am inclined to hold that the charges are not proved more particularly as witnesses like Exhibit VII had been put up in the mills warning the workers and subordinates against doing other things like giving or taking of bribes (vide evidence of R.W. 2).

Immorality—P.W. 4 deposed against all the five (R.Ws. 4 to 8) and specially against R.W. 5. Apperavanti is a girl who used to go for her one night with her husband via away through one Venkateswami. The person who actually deposed to this episode himself is one Exhibit (P.W. 11) and when questioned why she gave the name as Venkateswami, P.W. 5 said it was due to a mistake. I am afraid that charges cannot be taken as proved on such evidence.

P.W. 7 deposed against R.Ws. 4, 5, 7 and 8, P.Ws. 9 and 11 against R.W. 5, 6 and P.W. 10 against R.Ws. 6, 7 and 8.

I do not propose to deal with this point of length, but will stop with saying that I consider the charges wholly unproved. The evidence is so terribly slant that one might almost call it a fabrication. It is unnecessary that these women should have been paid and moreover largely benefited with better hands of workers in the mills. I find it impossible to accept their evidence even with the proffered gifts of milk.

Disobedience—No evidence.

Putting my considerations on the evidence before me, I do not think that a case has been made out for the removal of the few people. But it is in evidence that these people or some of these were or are being doing outside the mills, leading in rent, fish, etc. Though there is no prohibition by the management against such leading outside the mills, still it seems to be highly undesirable that these should be. It is therefore urged that the management must at these people must insistingly be kept such trade either in their own names or in the names of their relatives through outside the mills. On the point that workers are indirectly suggested to stop change from the shops of these people I think the grounds is well-founded. It is apparently the intention and implied pressure by these few people on the workers to buy from these shops along with their groceries and necessaries interference at union meetings that has led to their becoming the head-bad of the 2000 odd people in the mills. In fairness, however, I must say that the allegations that these few used to bring drunken women and disturb the meetings is not supported by proper evidence. On the contrary the attack and ugly steps are quite due to the union often if not previously accepted the plan and there was nothing to prevent a few, who did not wish to be well, from giving satisfactory evidence of themselves at such meetings.

7. (i) Whether there is any reasonable way to avoid the reattachment of the 250 workers which the management should adopt and (ii) if not, what way is immediately due to restore their status— Since in 1932, the mill worked on a basis under the single-shift system. In 1933 the "group" system was introduced whereby each group worked for 24 hours, while the mill could worked 36 hours. According to the statement that by the company (Exhibit B) with a view to restoring the two men-quand on operation in both shifts, and in the same time horizon as the shift of the labour in a single-shift, it was decided on June 2nd May 1933 to reduce the working hours from 32 to 24 by reversion to the single-shift system. This change proved reduction in the number of workers by 200, though there was no reduction in the revenue of the mill. Apart from this the Government of Bengal have issued an order containing the working hours in the mills at Bengal to 45 a week in mills having 250 looms and over. McLeod & Co. of Calcutta, who are the managing agents of these mills, were represented in this Court by B.W. J. (Mr. Fether) who is a Director of that company as well as these mills. According to him and B.W. J. it is impossible to revert to the group system as it is likely that the 45-hour week will be introduced shortly in Calcutta also. McLeod & Co., being members of the Royal India Mills Association, in such a case there will be two alternatives left— one of reduction in wages corresponding to the number of hours— often by, say, month reducing the hours from 36 to 45 and the other reducing about one-third of the total number of looms with a consequent reduction in the number of workers which might mean a further reduction by 150 workers. B.W. J. (Mr. Fether) has pointed that it is impossible to reattach the 250 reattached workers all at once since the Government suggested by me as first would disorganize the working of the mills. He is, however, for keeping on the rest of the workers as they are. He has stated that "I definitely wish to keep on our workers if I can. When better times come, we shall have the labour force ready." A more appropriate measure is it is difficult to imagine or reasonably suggest.

From the above and from the other circumstances which I have carefully considered it seems to me that the difficulty is taking back all the reattached workers as soon as possible. The mill authorities do not, I am sure, harbour any prejudice as far as the reattached workers and their processes in general. From the circumstances that six of these have now been reattached, an inquiry into the mill. Though their names be reattached all at once I would suggest that the list be revised with reference to the number of years of service put in by the reattached workers and that they be reattached as far as possible by being given preference over those in the mills who might be known to them in service. If this suggestion is adopted, I consider that neither the management nor the workers should have any real grievance.

8. (i) Whether the mill may reasonably be expected to give holidays and bonus with pay to the workers and (ii) what other requirement in the conditions of work of the workers may be reasonably made by the management— In these mills there is no security of service, no sick leave, no leave with pay and no holiday except, of course, Sundays and a portion of holidays for which, however, workers are not paid. B.W. J. (Mr. Fether) has stated that the mills have been working at a loss which according to Exhibit B-4 (Appendix 2 of the Company's statement—Exhibit B) was Rs. 2,00,000-0-0 in 1932 and Rs. 3,00,000-0-0 for the full year ending June 1935. But, calculating the total of profits and losses from 1927 to 1935 in the same appendix up to 1935 June 1935 and deducting the losses from the former there is a profit shown of Rs. 14,00,000-0-0. This, however, seems to have been temporary in certain years.

Compared to the conditions in these mills, those in the Nellore Mills, where I recently visited as a Court witness (2 W. 1) are certainly better, including bonuses. Though the men and women of the workers in both mills seem to be, on the average, about the same (I say that from a cursory point of the opinion mentioned in both mills which I have looked into personally), the conditions at Nellore are quite liberal not in terms of security of service. It may be asked why these should be with a big difference between the two mills. The answer is that, though the Nellore Mills Mills are not a going concern at present, their managing agents (Bharadwaj and Co., Madras, Ltd., Madras) who own other industrial mills have tried to keep the Nellore Mills on the same footing as their other industries.

The number of hours of work in the Calcutta Mills are over 14 per day and 4 on Saturdays. The hours of work in Nellore are 7 per day, including Saturday. It is represented by B.W. J. (Mr. Fether) that the workers are agreeable to the reduction of the labour system. It is, however, again according to B.W. J. produces better work from the workers than 12 hours daily with a bonus on Saturday. But B.W. J. (Mr. Fether) has stated that as far as his experience goes, the workers in his mills prefer the present system, as it gives them 24 hours of in the work. I understand from him, however, that should it be the present work of the workers that the labour day be reduced, he would have no objection, though it might cost a little more by way of cost compensation for the workers. The 8-hour day may therefore be fixed if the workers agree generally.

9. To sum up, I make the following recommendations—

- (a) (i) and (ii) Those of the 250 reattached men who were reattached should as far as possible be taken back working their position at service who may be working in the mills.
- (b) There has been an deliberate maladministration by the management as they were not aware of the workers were members of the union. So, this charge must fail.
- (c) No case has been made out for their removal, though, as I have already said their management and conditions of service in general are not directly answering them or their work should be put a stop to by the management.
- (d) He doubts the job industry is gone for good, but this seems only a passing phase, as is evident from the statement of profits and losses (Exhibit B-4). Taking all things into consideration I would strongly urge that workers be given 10 days annual leave a year with pay. As the workers get absolutely no other privileges of any kind
